

Marutaka R/C Model – M.R.M

Marutaka Model Logo.

The same factory.

Mr. Masahiro Kato (right).

To write an article and publish it requires a lot of preliminary work to gather correct information and photographic material.

When you create a new company and a factory for the production of your products, at the beginning you need a lot of advertising of your executives who work in it in its main areas.

The company Marutaka (M.R.M its abbreviation) did not show us this, at least as far as I know, anywhere and in no catalog, not to mention in the only catalog that was published everywhere. So it appeared almost out of nowhere with products on the market.

Looking at our data we have a photo of the Ok Pilot factory, which on its facade has advertising letters from the two manufacturing and trading companies that exist on the site of the factory that was destroyed by fire many years ago.

After the destruction of this factory and from the little information that was released, we begin to learn several truths about what exactly happened in there.

In a space within the factory itself, the Marutaka factory and the company itself are created. How is it possible for two companies producing and distributing the same products to be located and working in the same space together. ???

Questions that we fan modellers of the world will never be able to answer.

And yet there are some of the same people who know very well what was going on in there but do not publish the information for understandable reasons. The one and greatest in the world who knows things from the inside out and the inside out is the greatest and best designer of all time Mr. Masahiro Kato who before he created his own dynasty production unit designed airplane models for almost everyone in there to go to production and consumption.

Marutaka R/C Model – M.R.M

And the best at the end.

After persistent research, I discovered in the press pages of that time when the factory was destroyed by fire that they say that the factory of Marutaka burned and not Pilot.

The conclusions from what I wrote are yours.

And searching last night until almost dawn in the World Internet Library I found something else good.

The Germans surprised me because they, in turn, put a gem in this World library by creating the RC Network.de Wiki website.

Don't worry about the German language, there is also an English option.

More information her

<https://wiki.rc-network.de/wiki/Hauptseite>

More information about Marutaka here :

<https://wiki.rc-network.de/wiki/Marutaka>

Author of the article Hlsat 13-08-2022